"HOMES FOR THE HOMELESS"

One of the major problems facing the world community today is how to manage the one billion slum dwellers who live in appalling conditions. What can the United Nations do to help resolve the critical situation in which many cities find themselves; particularly in developing countries? In this edition of World Chronicle, Anna Kajamulo Tibaijuka, Executive Director of the United Nations Centre for Human Settlements, Habitat, talks about what is being done to ensure that people everywhere have the right to decent housing.
